

JAG clinical fellow

The Joint Advisory Group on GI Endoscopy (JAG) invites application from persons interested in taking up the exciting role of JAG clinical fellow.

The appointee has the opportunity to shape this high impact role and to ensure JAG continue to utilise our rich datasets to produce excellent publications. You can see examples of recent work by the current JAG clinical fellow on the JAG website.

The JAG clinical fellow will be responsible for:

- co-ordinating, analysing and publishing a variety of research projects. It is anticipated that this body of work would form the basis of a higher degree (e.g. MD).
- Contributing to JAG projects to support team to make data led decisions.

The appointment will be for two years, with progression to year 2 on agreement of JAG based on satisfactory performance in year 1. A full time salary is available on the Specialty Registrar (SPR) scale (applicants would be considered from those wishing to undertake role on a part time basis).

Full details of the role can be found in the job description.

Application and appointments process

Applicants wishing to apply should submit the following to askjag@rcplondon.ac.uk:

- Letter of application outlining their suitability for the role
- Short CV (focussed on endoscopy-related achievements and leadership experience)
- Where appropriate, a letter of support from an academic supervisor should be provided

It is intended that the successful applicant will take up post on 1 September 2019 or shortly thereafter.

Interested parties are welcome to have an informal discussion ahead of application with the JAG chair, Dr Siwan Thomas-Gibson. These should be arranged via the JAG office.

Interview for short-listed applicants will be held on 18 March 2019 in London.

Closing date for applications is 27 February 2019.
